Whimsical rustic stationery inspired by my country life.

Hello,
I'm Sarah!

Welcome

I know you're here because you want gorgeous wedding stationery...
Well I'm here to make that happen!

I live in Cornwall and I'm so inspired by my wild and beautiful surroundings. I want you to feel some of the sunshine in my soul, so I have created my country life on Paper to share with you.

If you're looking for stationery that is country, rustic, vintage, floral or just super pretty, then you're in the right place and your search for the perfect stationery is over; leave it up to me (high five!) and we'll have so much fun together...

FAQ's

Q. I really like your style, are you able to create something bespoke?

A. Yes! For a bespoke design there is a one off fee of £175 and I can then use the design for any stationery that you order at the regular Prices. I would need some images or a Pinterest board to show the colours, theme & style you are after.

Q. I really like one of your designs, but the colours don't quite match our theme. Are you able to change them?

A. Yes! I can customise the colours of an existing design and make minor tweaks to fit in with your wedding. The cost for this depends on the design and scope of the work so just get in touch with your ideas and I'll let you know a cost.

Q. I need 80 invites, 55 for the day & 25 for the evening. Would that be the 65 + Price?

A. If your day & evening invites are either both flat or both folded then; yes. If you are having folded for the day and flat for the eve then it would be their individual Prices.

Q. How much is Postage?

A. For orders over £500 within the UK, Postage is free. Postage is £10 on orders under £500 within the UK. For international Postage just contact me for a Quote. If you want to order invitations and on the day stationery, then you can put it all on the same order and pay just one set of Postage.

Q. I would like invitations to start with but will need some on the day stationery too.

Although I don't know the final details/numbers for that yet until I get RSVP's back. How does that work?

A. You can order on the day stationery with your invitations and estimate quantities based on your guest list and pay a 50% deposit. We will arrange the invitations first and then there will be a deadline for your on the day stationery wording 6 weeks before your wedding and a second print run. You can then confirm quantities and I can adjust the final balance accordingly. Alternatively you can place a separate order for on the day stationery at least 12 weeks before your wedding, but I wouldn't need your final wording until 6 weeks before though.

Lovely couples I have worked with...

Cable + Gina
Photography: Laura Buffery

"Sarah was the most attentive & passionate person and was full of ideas. The final pieces were just beautiful with many compliments from guests. A true reflection of all the hard work and effort she puts in to every detail"

Emma + Andy
Photography: Sarah Jane Ethan

"As soon as I found Sarah's pretty website I knew I had to have this stationery for our wedding. 'Chantilly Lace' design was a perfect match to our theme and it looked simply beautiful on the day. Every parcel was so pretty & made personal with Sarah's finishing touches"

Joanne + Daniel
Photography: Expression Photography

"From the moment we saw Sarah's invitations we just knew she had to create all our wedding stationery. Everyone commented on all the detail and how beautiful they looked. Sarah created everything so perfectly and we felt like we had a friend creating them for us"

Suzannah + Jason
Photography: Stolen Oranges

"Everyone loved my stationery and it matched my theme perfectly! The only hard bit was choosing a design as they are all soooo lovely. But 'Love is in the air' was the winner because it really stood out to me and I loved the colours of all the hearts."

How to order....

Once you have gone through your guest list and finalised numbers, then just get in touch with... your wedding date, the design you'd like, list of stationery you need and quantities of each.

I recommend you add 10% extra to your invitation numbers for spares. You may make a mistake when writing them out or decide to invite others last minute. There is a minimum order of 25, and it works out more expensive to make a separate print run for just a few at a later date.

I will get back to you with an invoice and font choices and request your delivery/design/wording details along with a 50% deposit or full payment if your order is under £150. Once I have all of this then I can get to work and create the most gorgeous stationery for your wedding!

I will then email you with a proof of your stationery within a few days. Once you have confirmed you are happy for it to go to print. I hit the big 'PRINT' button and the magic begins!

Your stationery should arrive back from the printers within 2 weeks. I'll then request final payment if necessary and post a very special parcel to you.

WAIT!!!!

The most common mistake a lot of couples make when ordering their stationery is to think that they need the same amount of invitations as guests.

“I have 60 guests so need 60 invites”

Families and couples go on the same invite remember, so you only need 1 invite per household. In reality for 60 guests you may only need around 30-40 invites.

Every set of wedding guests are different so you will need to go through your guest list and count up every 'set' of guests, so count every family as a set, every couple as a set and every single as a set. This will give you the exact amount of invites you need and then add on some extra for spare.

P.s: If you made this assumption, then don't worry my friend, you weren't the first and you certainly won't be the last! x
